The 1969 Cresset is dedicated to one who represents the acme of administrative ability. This yearbook, like the grand old brick and mortar edifice at 1535 Calhoun, is a monument to him who has borne its charge for the past twenty-three years. As he stood, so the structure symbolizes, as it rests strong, sturdy, and stately.

To be able to withstand the storms of the superintendency is in itself a task. But to accept that position and function effectively and contributively to the school systems educational worth for such a period of time denotes praiseworthy effort, productivity, a positive outlook, and mature perseverance.

To see a student and faculty population surge would in some men cause despair and desertion. But this man was not just some man. His staff was his companionship and the children his reward. His affection was reciprocal. He gave out much and to him much was given. He was known and renowned. You could hear it in the excited voice of an elementary child as he shouted his identity, "Mr. Houston! Mr. Houston!".

He met the discipline necessary to operate well the educational machinery of the district. In the competition for accomplishment he frequently triumphed and his contributions were hailed by local and state professionals alike. In the arena of praise he was ever humble. This was the nature of Mr. Raymond Houston.

He chastised with compassion, complimented with consistency, and directed with decisiveness. He walked the narrow line between school board approval, community demands, and teacher insistencies with grace and dignity. This was the manner of Mr. Raymond Houston.

He possessed the instinct to measure the passions of man. He was shrewd in judgment, appropriate with congratulations, and keen to uniquely respond to individual needs. His motto was donation rather than duration, and the former resulted in the latter. This was the role of Mr. Raymond Houston.

You have left your mark on our reminiscences. You still superintend our thinking. The educational construct you leave behind projects far into the future. In admiration we offer our gratitude. In thanksgiving we render you respect. In appreciation we applaud your accomplishments. In memory we hold fast your ideals, your ingenuity, and your identity.

Dedication

Mr. Houston and his work.

This year we are fortunate in having two exchange students. Cathy Catsanou, sponsored by the American Field Service with C. H. S. who lives with Rev. and Mrs. Jim Mayberry and Helga Sigurardottir, sponsored by the International Christian Youth Exchange who lives with Dr. and Mrs. Richard Holliday.

One of the highlights of the year is the presenting of our American flag to the exchange students by our principal, Mr. Meek.

Three Cheers and Rah! for Chillicothe, for CHS our feet has led
With banners flying onward, here is to Old Black and Red.
It is our loyalty we give her;
To us she gives the rule
Of truth and honor and high thought-this CHS our school.

It's Chillicothe, it's Chillicothe,
It is the school we love so well.
So raise your voices and wave your banners
For now 'tis CHS we cheer.
Now come on old "grad", 'twill make your heart glad
To cheer again our good old school.
We'll give a long loud cheer for CHS and Rah! for Chillicothe High.
